

{Your viewing screen opens inside a crowded hall packed full of the nCw's current roster. We can see several of the top stars wearing their best gourmets, sitting side by side talking and laughing have a good time, despite anything currently happening in nCw storylines. Silence fills the crowded hall as Leonard Fox steps onto the stage set up, and begins talking into a microphone positioned on top of the pedastal.}

Leonard Fox: I'd like to welcome everybody to this historic event. Before we get to the meat of the event I'd like to take a brief moment to talk about the nCw. As you all know I started nCw after years of frustration with other federations, coming and going falling to the wayside. I decided it was time to give nCw one final go, one last chance to proove to the world that it was truly a federation deserving of the main stream limelight.

{There is small clapping coming from the nCw members in attendance. Leonard holds up his hand kindly telling everyone to put a hold on the applause.}

Leonard Fox: Now now, let me continue if I may. See this dream of mine would be cut short however because of disagreements over the "true" nCw Hall of Fame and just plain politics coming from the Davey Boone camp. Now now, I hate to speak ill of the dead, but that is what happened and we can't go back now and change that. In this however was an unseen blessing. I got the chance to mold and create nCw into the fed I had envisioned all these years. I was able to bring out and feature the stars I saw within the roster. I was able to make this night happen, to make a hall of fame full of deserving athletes and not worry about the political tug of war between myself at the National Championship Wrestling. So without further adue, I'd like to bring out the first ever inductee into the New Championship Wrestling Hall of Fame.... Mr. Lance Ryan!

{The camera pans over to the side of the stage where "Fake It" by Seether hits the PA System and the nCw staff and superstars all give Lance a standing ovation as he walks out on stage. Leonard Fox meets Lance halfway and shakes his hand before handing him the nCw Hall of Fame plaque with Ryan's likeness on it, before leaving the stage and sitting at the head table set up in front of the stage. Lance is dressed in a full tuxedo and is grinning from ear to ear. He walks up to the podium and he takes in the applause for a moment until it dies down and the nCw members have a seat.

Lance: I have to admit that this whole situation has me completely in shock. I have been in this business for over ten years now, and the truth is, I have never been recognized in quite this way.

All of the world titles, all of the recognition that I have received before is unmatched compared to this. This shows appreciation from not only the management of this company, but the amount of compliments that I have received from my peers show that they also recognize me for my hard work and dedication to this business. I have sure come a long way since I was losing matches to Sweet T haven't I RJ?

In all seriousness though, I am flattered. It has been a long road to get to this point, and it feels very good. I would like to reflect a bit on my time thus far in nCw if you all can handle taking a ride down memory lane.

I remember when I first made my way over to this young company, I had contemplated hanging up my boots for the very last time, when the offer was made by Leonard to give me a home here in New Championship Wrestling. I decided that perhaps I had one more run in me, one last chance to prove that I could be a top dog in this business, and one more opportunity to hold the gold.

When Leonard put me into the Road to the Gold Tournament, I saw that chance. I rolled through the early rounds, taking out Justin Tyme and Wilber Katina. But I never could have prepared for what was in store for me in the Road to the Gold finals. Davey, let me tell you, I am glad to see you back in nCw, and I hope that we get to face off again in the future because that was a damn difficult match to win, and we stole the show brother. I won't apologize for what happened to you in our second match, but you would have done the same, it's business. I look forward to the eventual meeting that is to come between the two of us again.

Of course, I cannot relive the past few months without mentioning No Warning Shots. I want to take the time to thank by team-mates for helping me. I could not be here without you guys watching my back. Jack Manson, Philip Burns, Joe Everyman, and yes even you Reckless Jack. It has been a pleasure working with you all, even though once again Reckless Jack has proven to be unreliable when we are working together. Bt in all seriousness, Philip and Jack have been by my side through all of nCw and I want to especially thank them for their friendship, and their help in making No Warning Shots, and all of us, successful.

Finally, it would not be a conversation about my career to this point if I did not mention Spike Kane, and all of the members of The Empire. Let's face it, we all know that to be a successful hero, you need an equally successful set of villains, and The Empire has proved to be exactly that over time. Spike, our two stables have gone back and forth over the last few months, and nobody has come out the clear winner overall. However, a clear winner did come out between you and I at Retribution. I wish you the best of luck with that title Spike, you are by far the best competitor that I have ever had the chance to be in the ring with, and I look forward to my rematch with you, as I am sure that it will again tear the house down.

Finally, in closing, I do want to thank my brother for guiding my career to this point, he has been there through the good times and bad, and of course I want to thank Cassandra as well, after all we did just create life together, and she has been the love of my life for a long time.

I want to say something to the young guys coming up as well, know that there are some things that you can always do to help yourself out. Always listen to the advice that the veterans give to you, they have paid their dues, and most of us are looking to do what is best for the future of the business.

Again, I want to thank Leonard Fox for giving me this chance to succeed in nCw, and I also want to thank all of my peers for making this an enjoyable place to work, and I want you all to know that I consider you my family. Cheers.

{Everyone in attendance again stands to their feet and begin the ovation for Lance Ryan. Lance appears to tear up for a second before raising his arm and waving at everybody. He leaves the podium and heads off the stage and heads for the head table. Before taking his seat, Lance and Leonard embrace and Leonard heads back up to the podium as Ryan takes his seat next to his lovely wife Cassandra Ryan.}

Leonard Fox: Well everybody this concludes the ceremony part of our evening. The camera's will be leaving us now as the lovely dinner is served. In closing I'd just like to thank Lance Ryan for his dedication to nCw and the heart he has brought to the locker room and this company. He indeed is a deserving first inductee into the nCw Hall of Fame. To everybody watching, thank you for being with us, and good night.

{The feed ends there as Lance is staring at his plaque with Cassandra.}
